

These jingles are protective charms for the wild.

* * * * *

Dance the magic circle gaily,

Sing the songs the fays will hear.

With their queen, the Magic Maiden,

They will guard the elk and deer.

* * * * *

Goddess, veil the deer in mist,

That no unfriendly eye may see,

Or even guess when they are passing,

With the elves, noiselessly.

from Korythalia Vol. I, number 3, 1969.